BELMONT FILMHOUSE, ABERDEEN'S ONLY INDEPENDENT CINEMA

Belmont Filmhouse is Aberdeen's creative hub, attracting over 100,000 visitors each year to celebrate world cinema in all its brilliance and diversity.

Belmont Filmhouse is part of Centre of the Moving Image, Scotland's leading moving image charity, which runs Filmhouse Cinema in Edinburgh and the Edinburgh International Film Festival. As a charity, we are on a mission to bring world-class cinema and inspiring learning opportunities to the people of Aberdeen, while reaching out to communities throughout Scotland.

We invite you to join us to access unique experiences, entertain clients, network, see behind the scenes, support Scotland's film industry and inspire your team through cinema.

By becoming a corporate member, you will be investing in the future of Scottish film and in your local cultural community.
